VIOLET AMMONIA

A few drops in the water of the bath softens the water, increases its cleansing power and makes the bath more refreshing—besides giving a delicate odor of Violet that is really delightful.

Many Honolulu ladies are now enjoying this inexpensive toilet luxury. Why not you?

WAS DROWNED IN THE HARBOR

The Death of William White
Who Was Well Liked and Respected.

The body of William White, a carpenter, well known in Honolulu, was found floating in the harbor yesterday morning. Mr. White was over seventy years of age and lived in a rooming house on Fort street.

The body was found near the Channel wharf by Peter Baron about 6:30 a. m.

On the person of deceased were found a silver Elgin watch, a gold chain, a key-stone fob bearing on one side a Masonic emblem and on the other the following: "William White, William M. Egan Chap. 126, Chicago, Ill.;" a pocket diary of 1905 with the dates changed in pencil and American patriotic songs and poems printed in the back; a handkerchief; some loose and unimportant papers; a broken-bladed knife, a small tin of cascades, and gold rimmed spectacles and case.

An inquest was held last night at which a verdict of accidental drowning was returned by a jury consisting of E. D. Friele, S. K. Paulo, E. K. Keaioha, D. Panekapu, J. Regan, A. Keaioha.

Deceased's watch stopped at 7:22 o'clock on Thursday, the night he fell into the water.

He told a friend that he was going to look at the bunks being erected near the Channel wharf for the Spanish emigrants and it is believed that when near the edge of the wharf he was seized with a fainting spell and fell into the water.

Deceased was a man of exemplary habits and no cause is known which would have led him to take his own life.

William White was born in the town of Elgin, in the north of Scotland, about 73 years ago. Before coming to the Hawaiian Islands he lived in the States and was a naturalized American citizen. He came here about the time Spreckelsville plantation was started and worked with Thomas Mutch, the well-known citizen, and the late Geo. L. Dall at Kipahulu. Therefore he was a resident of these islands about a quarter of a century, including an absence of some time when he went to try his fortune in Australia. Mr. White was a man of sturdy Scottish character—steady, industrious, intelligent and cheerful. He was very highly respected by all who knew him either as his employers in the carpenter trade, his fellowworkmen or social associates. When Queen Victoria's jubilee was being observed here he was a member of the general committee on which were such men as W. G. Irwin, Alex. Young, F. M. Swany and T. Rain Walker. He always took an interest in the Scottish Thistle Club and served a term or more as its chief. As a mason he will be buried with the honors of the fraternity from Masonic Temple at 9 o'clock this afternoon. Mr. White was a bachelor.

David Macrae, the late Mr. White's most intimate associate, stated yesterday, that deceased had been subject for some time to dizzy spells. "Had I accompanied him last night, as I had been doing about five evenings in the week, I believe this sad accident would not have happened," said he to a reporter.

MARINE

Sailor Murphy, of the whaling schooner Carrie and Annie, which arrived off port on Wednesday, has complained to U. S. Shipping Commissioner Almy and Collector of Customs R. C. Stackable, that the captain of the schooner landed him here to see a doctor, and then sailed away, with all his personal belongings aboard the vessel. The schooner is bound to the Okhotsk Sea.

SALE OF ELEU.

It was rumored on the waterfront yesterday that the tug Eleu had been sold by the Miller Salvage Co. to the Matson Navigation Co., and that the steamer would soon leave for San Francisco in tow of one of the oil boats. The price is said to have been $7500.
